

Tecos AG is changing its name to Tecos Bruhin AG. As a highly specialised company, we focus our business on the development, design, construction and installation of premium dispensing and cleaning systems. Our market services are based on more than 20 years of experience, know-how and teamwork. This is what we rely on; you can count on that.

We will continue to make history in the future. We are targeting the establishment of new markets. However, our foundation remains the proverbial Swiss virtues: Efficiency, reliability, quality and precision characterise our company, products and services. You can count on this, too – your concerns and wishes are at the centre of all activities. We look forward to having you on board with us. You are most welcome.

Precision – made in Switzerland

Tecos Bruhin AG is one of the leading manufacturers of dispensing and cleaning systems. High standards in innovation and sustainability, as well as the proverbial Swiss precision are a part of the values we live by.

State-of-the-art products

Dispensing systems by Tecos Bruhin for high-viscosity and low-viscosity media and for specialist applications. We continuously optimise our products and comply with the latest standard of technology.

This is how we ensure that our customers are able to produce at all times to exactly the quality they have specified.

The cleaning systems for containers in the paint, coating, printing ink and the sealants and adhesives industry perfectly complement our range of services: Immaculately clean containers are a requirement for flawless production.

After sales & service

Fast, individual, reliable: Our services provide real added value. The experience and the know-how of our employees, as well as the worldwide network of agents and representatives, ensure that our customers are able to produce without interruption.
